

SUMMER INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITY FOR GRADUATE STUDENTS

Carnegie Corporation is pleased to announce a summer internship with ABC News in Summer 2007 for up to 6 graduate students. Students must be nominated by the Dean of their school or by the Director or Executive Director of the Shorenstein Center and will be chosen on a competitive basis. The internship will take place over a 10-week period at ABC News in New York City. Interns will work with ABC News' award winning Brian Ross investigative unit and obtain field, reporting and research experience. They will be given desk space at ABC News, be trained on the ethics and standards of ABC News and on video and reporting techniques. Kerry Smith, Senior Vice President for Editorial Quality, will be the executive in charge of this summer institute.

The details of the summer institute are as follows:

- Dates: June 4th to August 10th, 2007 for a total of 10 weeks.
- Participants: The internship is open to graduate students who are currently enrolled in a Journalism School, or enrolled at the Kennedy School and are affiliated with the Shorenstein Center at the Kennedy School.
Students at the Kennedy School must be nominated by the director or executive director of the Shorenstein Center.
- Stipend: Interns will be paid a weekly stipend of $750 for a total of $7,500 for the internship.
- Location: Students will have desks and office space at ABC News, 47 West 66th Street New York, NY 10023.
- Housing: Students will be responsible for their own housing arrangements in New York City.
- Application: To apply for the internship, please submit the following:
- A letter of nomination from the Director or Executive Director of the Shorenstein Center
 - A cover letter that explains why you wish to work at ABC for the summer
 - A resume
 - A completed questionnaire

Applications must be received by March 31st, 2007 for a decision in mid-April 2007.

The requested materials should be sent to:
