

FOR ORGANIZATIONS

Advance your organization's goals.
Advance the public good.

Harvard Kennedy School Executive Education is well-positioned to help you achieve your organization's training goals. For over forty years, we have designed and delivered custom programs for organizations around the world. Our programs feature Harvard faculty, cutting-edge content, and an immersive, active learning model.

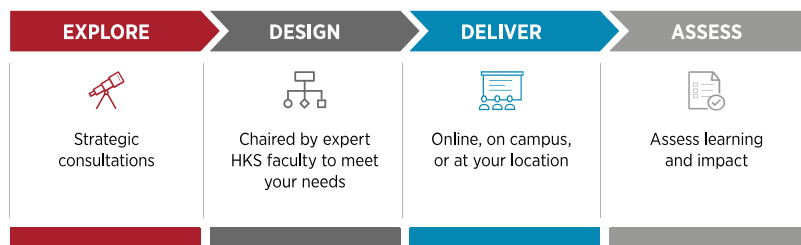

Custom Programs

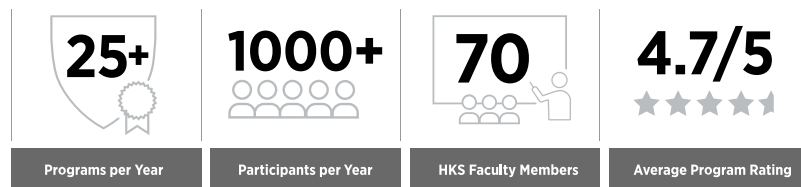

Identifying custom program opportunities for your organization is a collaborative effort at Harvard Kennedy School. We work with you to create a tailored approach to learning, whether on campus, online, at your location, or a combination of these options. Our programs encompass the broadest range and highest caliber of training in public policy, each led by renowned Harvard Kennedy School faculty.

Strategies for Small Groups

Consider enrolling a small team in one or more of our 35+ open-enrollment programs. Whether online or in residence, the experience will provide lasting benefits to your teams and organization. We recognize there are many possibilities to choose from. That's why we offer strategic consultation to help identify the programs that best match your needs.
